

ENVIRONMENTAL FORUM SERIES

Waste Management in Sudan

22 August 2017 | Sharjah Hall, University of Khartoum

Call for Papers

The Institute for Environmental Science, in partnership with UN Environment and DAL Foods, cordially invites you to attend the 5th event in its Environmental Forum Series.

The event seeks to provide a space that can promote a common understanding of environmental and climate change issues in Sudan; enable discussions on the current measures, challenges and proposed solutions; and finally, to galvanize action and maintain momentum among stakeholders from various bodies and across age groups and social strata.

The selected speakers will present their work to policymakers, activists, academics, students, members of the media and other relevant stakeholders. The presentations will be followed by a round of discussions with the audience that focusses on recommendations that are actionable in the short and long-term.

Topics of Interest

This call for papers includes but is not limited to the following topics:

- Industrial and agricultural waste management
- Community initiatives
- Pollution and urban planning
- National and state-level environmental policies and enforcement

Guide for authors

Submissions must be in Word format, and limited to 5 pages with 11pt font. Papers must be in English, although presentations can later be made in Arabic.

Papers should be submitted to sad_agb@hotmail.com and mayada.umbadda@unep.org. Please include your name, contact information and a current curriculum vitae with your submission.

Important dates

Deadline for submission: 10 August 2017

Notification of acceptance: 14 August 2017

Deadline for final paper and presentation: 19 August 2017

Contact info

For any enquires regarding this event, please contact:

sad_agb@hotmail.com

mey.ahmed@unep.org

mayada.umbadda@unep.org

We look forward to your participation!